

To create my Project 1 home page, I used the Brackets editor. My page is about the game Rocket League. Its purpose is to showcase different car designs that can be created in the game, as well as help others with their designs. I tested my page on Google Chrome and Microsoft Edge, in which the page opened correctly on both. The most time consuming part was trying to remember the tag names and which ones to use while writing the code.